

Wait a midi Colourful Indian quilts and Cat Hammill's beaded bracelets (left) make Jess Young's Midi Boutique in Lorne, Vic (far left), a must-visit.

ray of sunshine

Translated from French to English "midi" means midday, but it's also the colloquial name for the south of France and conjures images of a sun-soaked lifestyle. That summertime holiday feeling – and the look of beachside boutiques in the south of France and Italy – was what Jess Young (far left) wanted to evoke with her small but sunny shop, Midi Boutique, in Victoria's Lorne, a coastal town on the Great Ocean Road. We love this canvas and Italian leather overnighter, lined with silk and made to last. Overnighter, $300, Ellie Rogers.

Retro-styling; uses 35mm film. Blackbird Fly twin-lens reflex camera, $220, Via Alley. Other colours, too.

TO A TEA

We just had to have a hand-screenprinted linen tea towel from Materialistic, a Finders Keepers market find. Homage To Tea tea towel, $26, Materialistic.

FOR INDOORS AND OUT

A table with removable table top/tray can be used inside or out. The side flaps can turn down. Cloth table, $950, Bernabeifreeman.

ONE LENS OF THIS FAMOUS STYLE OF camera IS USED TO EXPOSE THE FILM; THE OTHER IS USED LIKE A VIEWFINDER.

CUSHY CUSHY

We're huge fans of affordable items that look expensive. These homewares are classic-looking, with a modern edge. From top: Jaya throw, $99; Pani cushion, $29.95, and Yvette cushion, $59.95, Country Road.

reading room

It might sound crazy to buy a book in a language you can't read. But this colourful book of Swedish children's rooms, by Japanese publishing house Paumes, is irresistible! The series includes other cities, including Paris and London. Children's Rooms - Stockholm, $37.50, Lark & Friends. →
